S.V.E. — Personal Accountability Declaration of the Author & Initial Custodian

A companion instrument to the S.V.E. Meta-License v6.0 (“the License”). Terms defined in the License — (God) Father, Recipient, Corpus Artifact, Custodian, Sponsor — carry the same meaning here. This Declaration does not modify the License; it exercises a right and accepts a duty the License already provides for (§2). Where a section number is cited without qualification it refers to License_v6_0; where the companion long-form Meta-License numbers the same provision differently, that number follows in parentheses.

0. Why a Declaration No. 0

§2.6 of the License already states that when the Custodian personally operates a product or service under the License, he holds the office of (God) Father on identical terms to anyone else — no exemption, no special case. This Declaration is that principle exercised in writing: public, timestamped, and signed — not a new grant, but the first, founding use of the office §2 creates. It is numbered 0, before any (God) Father the Registry will come to record afterward, so that anyone who later registers under this License has, from day one, a working example to measure their own declaration against.

1. Personal acceptance — past and present works

I, Dr. Artiom A. Kovnatsky (“AK1984”), Author & Initial Custodian, personally accept the office of (God) Father for every Corpus Artifact I have authored or co-authored, in whole or in part, to date — whether released directly, through the Custodian’s own publication channel, or otherwise — and for every Corpus Artifact I author or co-author from this date forward that I hold, exercise, or offer as a Network Service in my own name rather than through an entity. This acceptance is retroactive to the same extent §13 (§12), the Ratchet & Retroactive Envelope, already makes the License itself retroactive: no Corpus Artifact of mine has ever been, or will be, offered without a real, named, personally liable human being standing behind it — myself.

2. Standing acceptance — future entities

For any legal entity I found, control as a principal, or hold executive office in, from this date forward, I personally and irrevocably pre-accept the office of (God) Father under §2.2, effective automatically and without further paperwork from the moment that entity’s first act touching a Corpus Artifact occurs — the same moment Latent Activation (§1.2) would otherwise bind it. This standing acceptance:

2.1 applies only to that entity’s use of Corpus Artifacts; it creates no obligation, and implies nothing, about any activity of that entity unrelated to the Corpus;

2.2 does not override §2.4 — if, for any such entity, I come to hold an immunity, an indemnification arrangement, or lack real control in the sense §2.4 describes, §2.4 disqualifies me from the office for that entity exactly as it would disqualify anyone else, and the entity must then name a different (God) Father within the same 90 days §2.2 already allows;

2.3 is a default, not an exclusive claim: it does not prevent, and is not diminished by, another person accepting the office for the same entity — in addition to me under §2.2’s “more than one” rule (each of us then fully and individually liable, never shared or diluted), or instead of me, by the entity naming a different (God) Father through the ordinary process at any time. Its only purpose is to guarantee that no entity of mine is ever, even for a day, without a qualifying (God) Father;

2.4 lapses, for a given entity, on my death, incapacity, or departure from it, at which point that entity is subject to the ordinary 90-day successor rule of §2.2 like any other — no special extension, no exemption;

2.5 Acknowledged scope. I make this standing acceptance knowingly and with its full weight understood: it is broad, ongoing, and — for each entity it attaches to — carries the same uncapped, personal, non-corporate-shielded liability §2.2 imposes on any (God) Father. I do not limit it by number of entities, by time, or by amount, and I do not ask this License to limit it for me.

3. Audit reciprocity binds me first

Restated here, in my own name, not left to inference from §6.6 (§7.6) and §8.3 (§9.3): if I, in any capacity — Author, Custodian, or (God) Father under this Declaration — initiate a suspicion-based audit or breach report against any Recipient, (God) Father, or end-user under this License, I submit to an audit of the same standard, on the same subject matter, first or at the same time — never after. I claim no exemption from this for having written the rule.

4. Contact & Notices

4.1 Fast, informal channel — reports, questions, and suggestions. Errors, ambiguities, suggested improvements, and good-faith questions about this License or this Declaration may be sent by SMS to +49 176 3016 2834 (Dr. Artiom A. Kovnatsky). I will make a good-faith effort to respond within 72 hours, and where a report is confirmed as an actual error or defect, I commit to correcting it at the earliest realistic opportunity — through the ordinary versioning process (§13 / §12), never by silently editing a signed instrument. This is a service commitment, made in good faith and to the best of my ability — not a warranty, and not itself a term of this License or this Declaration: a delayed reply, on its own, does not affect either instrument's validity, force, or interpretation. A confirmation given by SMS is preliminary acknowledgment only; it is not, by itself, an amendment to any signed instrument.

4.2 Formal notice address. Where this License, its Appendices, or applicable law requires or benefits from written notice — a breach report under Appendix F, a formal legal notice, service of process, or similar — it may be sent to:

┆ Dr. Artiom A. Kovnatsky Dahlmannstrasse 17 10629 Berlin Germany (DE)

4.3 Neither channel is exclusive. A matter with real legal consequence is better sent to both: the SMS channel is fast but informal and does not itself create a timestamped record; the postal address is slower but is the address of formal record.

5. Not a transfer of the Custodian office

This Declaration is personal to me, in my capacity as a (God) Father under §2 — it is not part of, and does not attach to, the Custodian's governance role under the Declaration of Interim Custody v2.0. A successor Custodian, whenever one is named under that Declaration's own succession rules, inherits no obligation or status under this Declaration; they are free, but never required, to make an equivalent declaration of their own, under their own name, for their own works and ventures.
