Dear Mr. Schuster,

As a follow-up to my previous message, I want to draw your attention to a set of questions I had already put to OSF Support on 10 April 2026, which remained unanswered. I attach that email for reference and ask that your full response by 26 August 2026 address these points directly, each supported by the corresponding entries in your logs.

The central question is this: my account was flagged and deactivated as "SPAM" before any file, project, preprint, or platform interaction on my part — as I understand it, at or around the moment the account (skovnats@gmail.com) was connected with GitHub. I therefore request:

1. Grounds for a zero-activity flag. The specific technical or behavioural grounds on which a clean account with no uploads and no platform activity was pre-emptively flagged as "SPAM" — identifying the exact signal(s) relied upon (e.g. email-address, IP/CIDR-neighbourhood, or external-identifier reputation, or any signal derived from the GitHub connection), with the source and the value returned.
2. Automated vs. manual. Whether this flag was produced by an automated heuristic/classifier or by a manual moderator intervention (or a combination), together with the human-review records, if any.
3. Log evidence. For each of the above, please indicate the specific log entries, records, or system fields that substantiate the explanation, with their UTC timestamps, so that the account of events can be verified rather than merely asserted.
4. Procedural delay. An explanation of why the resolution, initially indicated within 48–72 hours, took over 38 days and a second reminder.

For the avoidance of doubt, this concerns a registered German business identity (Wirtschafts-ID: DE405667512). These points fall squarely within my rights under GDPR Article 15 (access) and Article 22(3) (meaningful information about the logic of automated individual decision-making), which apply irrespective of a controller's size. I ask that they be answered within the response period you have set.

I reserve all rights. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Subject: Re: Your Data Protection Request

Dear Mr. Schuster,

Thank you for your response, for restoring my account access and safelisting the domains, and for confirming that COS is preserving the records relevant to my request. I acknowledge receipt of your letter and will keep to this thread.

1. Identity / scope. I confirm that this request concerns my OSF account registered under the email address skovnats@gmail.com (correspondence address: artiom.kovnatsky@gmail.com). This message is sent from the account email to assist verification.

2. Article 12(3) extension. I note the extension of the response period to 26 August 2026, and your indication that you will respond sooner where possible. On that basis I ask that the time-sensitive items below be provided ahead of the full response.

3. Time-sensitive items (please prioritise). To support ongoing external proceedings, I ask you to prioritise the records describing how and why my account was flagged and restricted, namely: (i) the specific category label, risk/severity score, and threshold applied; (ii) the input signal(s) that triggered the automated flag (e.g. IP/CIDR-neighbourhood, email-address or identifier reputation), with source and returned value; (iii) the exact UTC start and end timestamps of the restriction; and (iv) the human-review records, if any. I would be grateful to receive these at the earliest opportunity, and ideally by 22 July 2026.

4. Relevant time window. As I was not notified of the action, I do not have its exact timing. Please treat the relevant window as approximately 1 March 2026 to 1 May 2026. If COS's own records indicate relevant flagging, processing, or third-party signals before or after that window, I ask you to extend the search accordingly rather than limit it to these dates.

5. Scope of obligations and COS's size. I note your observation that some items may not apply given COS's size. To clarify: my core requests are grounded in the GDPR — in particular the right of access (Article 15) and the rights concerning automated individual decision-making (Article 22), including meaningful information about the logic involved. These obligations apply to every data controller regardless of size or turnover. Similarly, the obligation to provide a statement of reasons for a restriction under Article 17 DSA applies to providers of hosting services and is not among the obligations from which micro or small enterprises are exempted (that exemption, under Article 19 DSA, concerns the additional online-platform obligations in Articles 20–28). Insofar as COS considers any specific item to fall within a size-based exemption, I ask that you identify the item, the precise provision relied upon, and COS's qualifying status, so that the point can be assessed. This does not affect the GDPR items, which stand in full.

I reserve all rights under the GDPR and the DSA. I look forward to the prioritised items and to your full response by 26 August 2026.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Kovnatsky,

Thank you for your correspondence regarding your OSF account and your request under the GDPR and the Digital Services Act. I am writing on behalf of the Center for Open Science (COS) to confirm receipt of your request and that I am now handling it directly as COS's point of contact for this matter. Please direct all further correspondence on this request to this address rather than the COS general support channel so that subsequent responses are contained in a single, consistent thread.

As an update, your account access has been restored and the domains you identified have been safelisted. If you encounter any further difficulty accessing your account, please let me know and it will be addressed promptly.

Your request sets out a number of separate and detailed items and raises questions that require careful review across COS records and systems. On that basis, and as permitted under Article 12(3) of the GDPR, COS is extending the period for its substantive response by two further months. We will provide you with a full response no later than August 26, 2026. This extension does not limit any of your rights, and I will respond sooner if possible.

I will address each item in your request individually in that response. You should be aware that some of the items relate to obligations that may not apply to COS, given its size and the nature of the services it provides. I will set out the COS position on each item at that time. Nothing in this letter is a decision on any individual item.

To ensure I respond to the correct data subject and scope the response accurately, please confirm the email address and account associated with this specific request. If you consider any particular item to be time-sensitive, please let me know, and I will endeavor to prioritize it.

In the meantime, COS is preserving the records relevant to your request. COS takes your concerns seriously and will respond in full within the period described above.

Sincerely,

Chris Schuster
